

HIGHLIGHTS FOR THE MONTH

DAKOTAS AREA OFFICE

End-of-month elevation at Angostura Reservoir for the month of September was the fifth lowest in 55 years of record. September end-of-month elevation at Shadehill Reservoir was the second lowest in 55 years of record.

Inflows into Belle Fourche Reservoir were the second lowest in 55 years of record while inflows to Pactola Reservoir were the fourth lowest in 52 years of record.

End-of-month storage at Lake Tschida Reservoir was the tenth lowest content on record for the month of September. Inflows to the reservoir were the twelfth lowest on record for the month of September.

Inflows to Jamestown Reservoir were the ninth highest on record for the month of September.

EASTERN COLORADO AREA OFFICE

The Lake Granby storage of 376,300 acre-feet (AF) on September 30, 2007, was 61,700 AF below average and 5,700 AF higher than 1 year ago. Colorado-Big Thompson Project storage water in Lake Granby, Carter Lake, and Horsetooth Reservoir was 477,100 AF on September 30, 2007, 89,600 AF below average and 59 percent of the total available storage capacity.

Total water storage in the Fryingpan-Arkansas Project at the end of September 2007, was 491,200 AF, and 59,600 AF higher than 1 year ago.

MONTANA AREA OFFICE

For the month of September, inflow to Canyon Ferry Reservoir and Sherburne Lake were the fourth lowest on record and inflow to Bighorn Lake was the third lowest on record.

End of September storage in Clark Canyon Reservoir was the eleventh lowest of record and end of September storage in Canyon Ferry and Gibson Reservoirs were the twelfth lowest of record.

NEBRASKA-KANSAS AREA OFFICE

The water surface level at Bonny Reservoir dropped to a new historic low during the month and the end of September reservoir level at Waconda Lake was the second lowest for the month since initial filling.

WYOMING AREA OFFICE

Bighorn River Basin

Nothing significant to report this month.

North Platte River Basin

Storage in Pathfinder and Seminole Reservoirs were the lowest end of September storage in the last 30 years. The Kendrick storage ownership was the lowest September ownership in the last 30 years. The Glendo ownership was the third lowest September ownership in the last 30 years.

OKLAHOMA-TEXAS AREA OFFICE

Nothing significant to report.